Work experience:

Frontend Developer, COLLET (incolett.com) 2022 – Present, USA (remotely)

- New features development

I'm responsible for implementing new functionalities and features and modifying the existing ones.

This includes interactive elements like buttons, forms, menus, sliders, carousels.

- Cross-browser and responsive web development:

This involves considering factors like usability, accessibility, and responsiveness across different devices and screen sizes.

- Refactoring of existing code: I conduct code refactoring, improving code quality, readability, and maintainability in components, optimize codebase for enhanced performance and addressed potential compatibility issues.

- Version control: I utilize Gitlab for version control, adhering to the GitFlow methodology to manage code changes effectively.

- Collaboration in a team: I work closely with designers, backend developers, and other team members to achieve project goals. Participate in discussions, analyzed requirements, and contributed to decision-making for successful project completion.

Frontend Developer, self-employed, 2020 – 2021, Worldwide

- Development of web projects of varying complexity from simple portfolio sites using native JS to participation in projects to create CRM systems using VUE JS
